SUMMARY

I play League of Legends since 2011, at the first I play the game in Chinese server, at 2013 I transfer to North American server. I have to say, this League of Legends is a fantastic game. I never play Dota before, my friend teach me how to play League of Legends. Until now my game skill have a lot of improve.

At 2012 I entry DePaul University to learn computer game development, I wanna join a company just like Riot Game, I have a lot of ideal about game play and player experience.

I think League of Legends is the best game around world, at the first League of Legends is a free game, not like other game need to spend money to buy items and increase ability in the game. Money in League of Legends is not a important condition to win the game, because money cannot increase any ability in the game. All that player need is increase there own skill. I think this is a very important reason to attract million of people to play this game.
